

Care Partnerships Australia NEWSLETTER

About Us

Care Partnerships Australia provide the specialist dementia support that families need.

We are experienced clinicians helping people to live well with dementia in their own homes or when extra care is needed, in hospital or at a residential care facility.

We provide family carers with valuable information about making their homes "enabling" and safe for a person living with any type of cognitive disability.

We provide support in advanced care planning.

Care Partnerships Australia is not affiliated with any particular organisation and we are not financial experts- our focus is on helping families.

We'd love to help you.

Michelle Harris
Dementia consultant

Navigating Care

The My Aged care system in Australia (www.myagedcare.gov.au) can be confusing.

The moment that people start their journey in navigating the system is often at the time of a crisis.

This makes the complexities even more difficult to understand and handle.

Finding the websites, learning the jargon, understanding the funding models and of course, the long waiting lists can increase distress.

If you need support in navigating care with your family members, workforce, church or business community, we are able to support and help you.

Dignity In Care

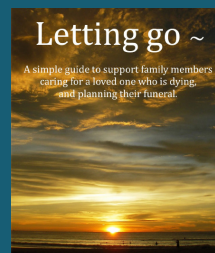

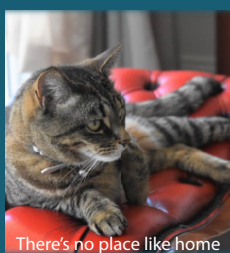

Dignity is the key moral concept when caring for people who are vulnerable. People living with dementia have experienced many key losses in their lives. This makes them vulnerable.

Dignity is an important component to the quality of life. The Royal Commission into Aged Care Quality and Safety commenced in Adelaide on 18 January 2019 and will deliver its final report by 30 April 2020.

The Commissioners will conduct hearings and/or round table discussions in each capital city and some regional centres.

If you would like further information about this, please contact us.

Latest Releases

My colleague Sheila Lapping and I have released three booklets you may be interested in.

Care Partnerships
Australia Pty Ltd

@carepartnershipsaustralia

@carepartnershipsaustralia

Michelle